

Support Rozenberg Quarterly - Keep Independent Publishing Alive

Rozenberg Quarterly is a not-for-profit, open-access platform dedicated to publishing high-quality articles, essays, interviews, and academic reflections on a wide range of social, cultural, and philosophical topics. Since its inception, the journal has remained freely accessible to all — without advertisements, subscriptions, or commercial influence.

Maintaining this independence comes with costs: web hosting, editorial work, and the careful curation of content all require time and resources. We rely on the generosity of our readers and supporters to sustain this work.

If you believe in the importance of free, critical, and independent publishing, we kindly ask you to consider making a donation. Your support helps us continue offering a platform for diverse voices, original research, and meaningful dialogue.

Donate today and help us keep Rozenberg Quarterly open and independent.
